POETRY.

A Homily on a Homily.

BY DOUGLAS A. LEVIEN.

I have read, witty Saxe, your last verses on Euchre—
(It's a game I have played, although never for lucre),
And if you but know it as well as I know it,
You would find, oh most genial and excellent poet,
It teaches a lesson more useful than one
To be gleaned from the sentence "I'll play it alone."

Selfe-reliance, we know, is an excellent trait,
The Advance Guard of Science, who patiently wait
Until Time has developed the truths they proclaim,
Deserve a high place on the record of Fame,
And often in Life, as in Euchre, I own,
You make a Big March when you "play it alone."

But to "go it alone," you no doubt understand
You must hold the Big Knaves of the pack in your hand,
And too often in life in a similar fix,
You depend on such cards to secure you the tricks,
So that something too much of the knave may be shown
In a selfish desire to "go it alone!"

But the game you describe as a "trivial strife,"
Has a moral to point for the Battle of Life.
It is this: When the cards are dealt round on the stand,
And each player looks anxious into his hand.
How bravely your partner ill luck can resist,
If cheered by the sound of your voice—"I'll assist!"

The great Galileo, imprisoned and bound,
In the midst of his trials this sympathy found,
When angry Dominicians hurled at his head,
All the wrath on which bigotry's passion is fed,
A rair form appeared through the dungeon's dim mist,
And a daughter's soft voice whispered low—"I'll assist!"

What's the worth of this world, if, designing and cold,
You selfishly seek all the honors to hold,
Repelling your neighbors with glances of stone,
And the words harshly spoken, "I'll play it alone."
No, no! higher up on humanity's list
Is he who can cheerfully say—"I'll assist."

Then in love! oh rash poet! if she whose bright eyes
Are gazing in yours with a tender suprise,
Should apply to your own case the moral you've shown,
And quietly tell you to "play it alone!"
With what passionate ardor those lips would be kissed,
Till they murmured once mare the soft words —"I'll assist!"

Then shuffle the pack! Cut the cards once again,
And let a new moral awaken your strain.
Go, teach to the world that the Battle of Life,
May be lightened to all who take part in the strife,
If the generous lesson thus taught be not missed,
And each man to his neighbor will say—"I'll assist!"

A HORSE ADVERTISEMENT.—Here is something, says a western exchange, that just suith this locality.

A man in Wisconsin advertised his horse for sale, and thus discoursed:

Thou canst trust thy labor to him because his strength is great

Thou canst bind him with his band in the furrow; he will harrow the valleys after thee.

He will gather thy seed in the barn.

His strength is terrible, in which he rejoiceth.

The glory of his nostrels is his pride; his neck is clothed with thunder.

He paweth in the valley, and waxeth proud in his speed.

He mocketh at fear; neither turneth he his back from the hobgoblin.

Lo, now, he moveth his tail like a cedar; his sinews are as cables

His bones are like strong pieces of bruss, yea, like bars of iron.

He eateth grass like an ox; behold he drinketh up a river, and trusteth that he can draw up Jordan in his mouth.

Who can open the door of his face? yet thou canst approach him with a bridle. His teeth are terrible 'round about.

I will not conceal his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportions.

He is gentle, he is kind,
And his tail hangs out behind.

And I want to sell him for something I can pay my debts with.

LAWS are like cobwebs, which may catch small flies, but let wasps and hornets break through

JUDGE not, lest ye be judged.

The Valuation of Parties.

A country attains its progress, only by adherence to its fundamental traditions. Every change, every revolution, in a country, wrought on the idea of subverting, or displacing, or ignoring the conditions till then subsisting—is, and must prove, a snare and a delusion. It is only when the political order of a country has become intolerable, and when there remains no reason to hope that time will cure the disorder by gradual processes, that the revolution of destruction is to be accepted, and even then so far from being welcomed, it is only to be looked on as a potent of death—to be followed by substitution, not by resurrection.

What have been the fundamental traditions on which the United States have grown to vast power? What the institutional ideas in maintaining which the people have been prosperous, and, politically, happy?

A common accord in maintaining, as the rights of white men on this soil, individual liberty, freedom of person, except by due process of law, freedom of speech and of the press, always subject to the local laws of each State, prescribing, each for its own limits and jurisdiction, the dividing lines between liberty and lawlessness, as resulting from these liberties, freedom of conscience, and of religious worship. What other institutions have built up, in happiness and prosperity, the American people? The common sentiment of Local Self Government, the right of every organized community of freemen to soereignty over their own local affairs. What more? The principle that administrative officers are subordinate to Constitutions; and that Constitutions are subordinate to the people for whom the Constitutions exist, and to them alone, when their will is expressed by their constitutive organic action.

What have these common sentiments of the American people effected in the past? They effected, under the influence of men like Jefferson and Madison, the formation of the Union; a Union of consent, voted by free and independent States, delegating and ceding, each, some of its sovereign rights.

What more? When, at the close of the last century, under the elder Adams, the New England mind first attempted the control of national affairs, and sought, by mean and tricky constructions of the Constitution, to subvert the sovereignties reserved to the States, and to render the Union a centralized despotism, after the European pattern, the germinal ideas of the country, handled by men who were at once patriots and statesmen, struck down the usurping despotism, and launched the country on a full tide of advancement, whose impulsion was felt after sixty years of various experiences.

In the year 1800, Jefferson was elected President on the distinctive issue presented in the Kentucky Resolutions of 1798, and the Virginia Declaration of 1799, and for forty years, with one short and unpopular intermission of a four years' administration, acquired not from the people, but by bargain and corruption in Congress, for forty years the administration of the Federal Government was committed by the people to Presidents elected distinctively on the Democratic Platform, symbolized expressly by the Kentucky and Virginia manifestoes referred to.

At the end of this period the Adams "Massachusetts school" was considered dead, and Harrison, in 1840, and Taylor, in 1848, were elected on extraneous issues—not as opponents, but rather adherents, of Jeffersonian Democracy. In each of these cases—Harrison dying and leaving his four years' administration in the hands of Vice President Tyler, a Virginia Democrat—and Taylor dying to leave Fillmore to conform his administration to the same principles—the Jeffersonian Democracy triumphed, and ruled the country. Then came the administrations of Pierce, a Jeffersonian Democrat, and of Buchanan, elected in the belief that he was such also.

Sixty years after the election of Jefferson, so firmly fixed in popular estimation, so sanctioned by resulting increase and prosperity and happiness were these political principles, that their open disavowal by any candidate for the Presidency, in 1860, however popular or however clothed in obscurity, would have sounded the knell of his hopes.

The principles of Jefferson and of Madison, the principles of the Kentuckey Resolutions of 1798, and the Virginia Declaration of 1799, have become the political traditions of the American people. They expressed the life and genius of the country, as it has been. There are no other fountains at which a true American political spirit can find waters that are not bitter; they embody the life that we all have lived; they are flesh of our political flesh, and bone of our political bone. Change them, substitute them, and not only will the life of the country be changed, but it will cease to exist. Why, statesmen cannot make a conniry. A country is a work of the Creative Providence and it must follow the laws of its growth. How then dream that some thimble rigging lobby agents and shoddy patriots can dress out and trim out a country on new conditions, as they would fit out a regiment or brigade in shoddy, on a contract, to their own emolument? The country must develop on its own traditions, and live its own life, or it must perish. Avaunt, chiefs of the lobby! Avaunt, shoddy courtiers! It is no matter for you that is in hand!

The Democratic party, in too many of the States, has fallen into hands at once very corrupt and very incapable. Hence the catastrophe of Lincoln's election and what followed. But that party has been the depositary, and is the sole administrator, of the true political traditions of the country. Base and incompetent men have made them a matter of bargain and of traffic. That is the misery of human infirmity. The principles—the traditions are all right. Our lack is for men at once capable and willing, and in position to represent those principles and traditions. But we will not find the men any sooner by mediating unseemly coalitions with parties that are antagonistic to the traditions of the country.

Least of all is it possible for men true to the traditions of the country to mediate coalitions with the especial artificers of our national calamities. The "Republican party," by its political sectional organization, gave provocation and opportunity, if not cause, for the South Carolina factionists to attempt the disruption of the Union. If our national quarrel be of those things that, by an old legal maxim, "are to be judged by their beginning," the political sect known as "Republicans" are the authors of all this bloodshed, this mourning, and these complicated disasters and sadness of heart. That sectional Republican party rose in New York. Two men, above all others, are responsible for it; they are Thurlow Weed and William H. Seward. Others may have rushed into the conspiracy from abolitionist fanaticism, or through other weaknesses. They played on the follies and the passions of the multitude, while they intrigued with those who, like themselves, were cool. To them the terrible words of Cicero, in regard to two Romans accidentally in high places of influence, and whose venality or base ambition plunged Rome into ruin and civil war, might be applied: "duo reipublicæ portentæ, ac pœne funeres.s"

After working all this woe to the country by playing on the most dangerous of passions—at the moment that the shocked sentiment of the people is awaking from the dream of madness—it is said that Mr. Thurlow Weed, just landed from Europe, proposes to organize and to manage a "conservative reaction"—to the advantage, mutually, of himself and his allies! We hear, as a serious proposition, that men who profess to speak for Democrats, are higgling for terms on which to form a coalition of the shoddy democracy with the unfanatical, and therefore insincere, Republicans.

Persona. antipathies and personal grievances are not to be remembered in times like these. We might, even, afford to forget the contemptible agents that have promoted the public catastrophe; but to have them, who have such direful pests, offer to lead the people into another ditch—all they have the skill to do when they undertake statesmanshsp—this is too much for sufferance. We want principles, and we want men.

"Moribus antibus, res stet Romano, virisque."

The plotters of our present troubles—the deadly opponents of the prosperous traditions of our country—can give us neither principles nor men that we can accept.

The principles we have in the platform of the old Democratic party—they are all we need. Who can better them? But of these principles the men who insinuate a desire for coalition have been for a long lifetime the destruction and the ruin.

The men we want, but we can never find either among the ensnarers or the ensnared that have made up the Republican party. That party, in all its members, in all its affiliations, and in all its tools, has been stricken with a special imbecility and sterility in politics. What one promise have any of its members made to the country that has not been disappointed?

The shoddy portion of the Democratic party may go to them as soon as it pleases, but they cannot come to the Democratic party to assume any position or any control.

The Democratic party must triumph by its principles. Those principles are the princeples of the country. If they are abandoned, the country has yet darker days before it.—N. Y. Freeman's Journal.

Roast Turkey--A Lesson for the Discontented.

BY "JINGO."

A gentleman in one of the eastern towns of Massachusetts had a servant in his employ, who gave him not a little trouble on account of the complaints he made on the subject of his victuals.

The gentleman of whom we speak, took especial pains that there should be no lack of provisions for the table, and one day, as he was passing through the kitchen, an opportunity presented itself for making some inquiries on the subject.

"How is it, Sam," said the gentleman, "that you are dissatisfied with your living? You fare the same as I do, and yet you are not contented."

"I know it," said Sam, who was fresh from the country; "but then I guess you are a little more fond of corned beef than I be, to make a meal of it so often."

"Corned beef!" said the gentleman, "I am indeed very partial to that dish and I am sorry that it is not equally as agreeable to your taste; but since you are so fastidious, tell me what dish of all you would prefer, and you shall be entertained with it?"

"Why, roast turkey, to be sure," quoth Sam. "I guess I ain't seen nothing of that sort this many a day."

"And do you think, Sam, you would be contented to fare on roast turkey every day."

"I guess, mister, if you'd only try me, you'd think so—nothing I relish so hugely as roast turkey."

Well, then," said the gentleman, tomorrow you shall be gratified—a turkey shall be roasted for your especial benefit—no one but yourself shall partake of it, and you shall eat of no other meat till the turkey is gone."

"By gumption!" exclaimed Sam, "I agree to that willingly."

The next morning the gentleman went to market, and purchased the largest and fattest turkey he could find, and sent it home with directions to be roasted and placed upon a separate table for Sam.

In this he was strictly obeyed—the turkey was stuffed and roasted in the best style, and when Sam made his appearance at the dinner hour, he found it smoaking on the table which had been set for his sole occupation

"By gauley, now, if that ain't curious, though!" said Sam, drawing up a chair to the table, at the same time smacking his lips and feasting his eyes on the scene before him.

Forthwith he attacked the turkey in his own fashion, cutting a slice here, and a slice there, just as inclination led him, without undertaking the slow and tedious operations of carving it; and having finished his dinner, he stretched himself out with the self complacent air of an alderman.

The next day the turkey was again served up as before, upon which, and upon which alone, Sam made his dinner with apparent satisfaction.

The third day, when the gobbler, shaved of his pinions and exterior, was placed upon the table, Sam was not quite so prompt in commencing operations.

The fourth day and the fifth came and departed, and found Sam still at work upon his turkey, more than two-thirds of which was now consumed.

At the end of a week's time the turkey was reduced to a mere skeleton, and Sam was thanking his stars that he should soon see no more of it, when his master entered the kitchen and found him at his last meal.

"Well Sam," said he, "I see you've about finished the first turkey—it is high time for me to look out for another."

"What, an ther!" echoed Sam, "another turkey! You don't think a man can live on roast turkey, do you?"

"Certainly I think you can. You can't find fault with roast turkey—it is a dish of your choosing."

"I know it—I know it," said Sam; "but who would have thought of turkey to day, and turkey every day? Why, I'd as lief feed on corn beef at that rate, and a little lifer."

"But, Sam, you are neither satisfied with living as I do, nor living as you prefer yourself—neither with corned beef nor with roast turkey. What shall I do in such a case?"

"Oh, anything! I'll feed on cats—roast dogs—anything but roast turkey—I can't go that—don't make me eat another"

"Well, then," said the gentleman, "if you think you can content yourself to fare as I do—to take pot luck when I take pot luck, and roast turkey when I do, and can do so without complaining, I consent that to morrow you shall return to your old way of living."

"Oh, yes. I consent to anything," said Sam, "anything but roast turkey."

OFFICIAL COUNTY PAPER.

SATURDAY, AUG, 23, 1862

DITRICT COURT.—The following cases for trial, will come up on Monday next at Woodland, before Hon. J H. McKune:

James Moore vs Cacheville Ditch Co.

Lewis Beedle vs Oliver Barrett.

A. B. Webb vs Thomas Flexman.

John Delf vs Nicholas Ruhr.

SKIRMISH.—Nothing seems to have disturbed the equanimity of our neighbors at Woodland during the last week, save a small skirmish between two indignant citizens—one a Deputy Assessor and the other an assessed individual. No blood shed, but some ink shlashed around, causing one meek Supervisor's shirt linen to look as if "seen through a glass, darkly."

TEACHER'S EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION.—Andrew J. Moulder, State Superintendent of Public Instruction has issued a Circular to Teachers and School Officers, in which he sets Friday. the 23d of September next, as the time of holding this convention, at San Francisco. Its purpose is to entertain, instruct and improve the teachers of the State in their vocations, and also to inaugurate a uniform system of education, and adoption of Text Books throughout the department. All teachers are especially invited to attend.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.—This body is engaged now in the work of making alterations in the Assessment Roll—raising the valuation of the property of a great many people and occasionally reducing an assessment here and there. The present Assessment Roll, we understand from reliable authority, is the most extraordinary mass of blunders ever presented to be made a matter of "record," and if the Board of Equalization succeed in making it of any practical use, and getting it into presentable shape, we shall render them the unqualified praise they will deserve at the hands of their constituents. We promise ourselves and the public, a more full examination into this matter, and the result may be worth knowing.

WITH pleasure we call attention to the new advertisement, in to-days issue, of Messrs. R. H. McDonald & Co, 139 J Street, Sacramento. This house is the Pioneer Drug House of this State; having been doing business in their present location since 1849. Their Stock, which is very extensive, contains everything in the Drug and Dental line—Paints and oils, blue stone, sulphur; lard, lamp and coal oils; perfumery, fancy goods, &c. We recommend all wishing articles in their trade to give them a call

When in Sacramento last Tuesday, we dropped in to see them a moment, and found their store full of customers from various parts of the State. Their business we understand, has increased so much of late, as to make it necessary to employ extra clerks. This is another proof of what we have frequently said, that Sacramento is, and always will be, the great emporium of the Eureka State.

THE MURDERER WILLIAMS. — This wretched being received his second sentence last Tuesday, for the murder of A. Blanchard, committed in Sacramento Co., in August, 1860. Although convicted each time on evidence the mass of which was circumstantial, his guilt is nevertheless plain and unequivocal; but, in spite of everything, there has been an undercurrent of sympathy for the prisoner, arising from the fact that his accomplice—a man a thousand times worse than himself—had formerly been acquitted, and allowed to turn State's evidence.

This man Blake, whose appearance on the witness stand, excited a murmur of indignation and a thrill of horror, appears to have been at once the dupe of Williams, and the most base and brutish of the two. Like his principal, he has enacted the character of Cain in the tragedy; but, going further, he turns out the Judas of the affair; and while we looked upon him giving in his evidence, with sinister visage, nerves spasmodically cowering, and eyes which could look no beholder fairly in the face, we felt assured that the worst murderer of the two was before us.

Williams has been sentenced to be hung on the 26th of September next; and he will probably die that death, while Blake will skulk through life, a miserable wretch, to whom life will be a burden, in spite of the brutalism of his nature.

Political.

The campaign is now fairly opened in our county. Both parties have made nominations, and both have their candidates in the field. The Democracy have nominated J. W. Baldwin, for County Judge; Hon. H. Griffith, for Assembly, and J. O. Maxwell, for Public Administrator. The Union Republicans have nominated L. R. Hopkins, for County Judge; —— Patton, for Assembly, and Capt. Emery, for Public Administrator. Each party have brought out good men. The Democracy, however, exhibit the most harmony; every member of the party is fully satisfied with the nominees, and resolved to do their utmost for the success of the ticket. On the other hand, the Union Republicans being composed of conflicting elements, and having a larger number of aspirants for office than their opponents, show signs of discontent. Mr. Hopkins, although a lawyer of good abilities, and a sociable gentleman, has many political enemies, exclusive of the jealousies arising from being the successful candidate in the convention, which seems at present to tell against the ticket he heads. Whether these conflicting elements will unite before the day of election, is more than we can prophecy; at present, the opinion prevails, that the Democracy have a good show in the race, and there being but two parties in the field, the result will be a fair test between Republicanism, as expounded by Seward, Lincoln and the powers that be, on the one hand, and conservatism and Democracy on the other The signs are favorable for a return to good, wholesome, sound rule of old Democracy.

Democratic County Convention.

The Democratic County Convention met at Woodland, Thursday, Aug 21st, pursuant to the call of the President, H. Gwinn presiding.

The Convention was called to order, and on motion a Committee of five were appointed to report Platform and Resolutions, and order of business, consisting of J. W Baldwin, Capt. Russell, Capt. Montgomery, J. A. Douglass and Q. C. Tebbs.

Convention took recess of one hour.

On being again called to order, the Committee on Resolutions and Order of Business, reported the following:

1st. The adoption of Resolutions.

2d. The nomination of a candidate for County Judge.

3d. The Assmbly, and

4th. Public Administrator.

The following Resolutions were adopted by the convention:

Resolved, That we endorse the address of the Democratic Members of Congress, issued during the late session, and that we decline to accept of, or stand upon, the platform erected for us by the Republican party.

Resolved, That our only hope for a restoration of our once glorious Union as it was, and the maintenance inviolate of our National Constitution as it is, lies in the success of the Democratic party, whose principles are, and have ever been, equal and exact justice to all sections of our country.

Resolved, That in rejecting the Crittenden Compromise, the Republican party chose an appeal to arms for the settlement of a sectional issue which it had raised, and therefore became responsible to the country for all the evils the present civil war has, and will inflict upon it

Resolved, That whilst we cheerfully contribute of our means to defray the expense of the war, we are opposed to being taxed for the purpose of buying, feeding and clothing the negroes of the South.

The nomination for County Judge being in order, John W. Baldwin and A. P. McCarty was nominated. The vote was by ballot, and on the first ballot, Baldwin received 21 votes and McCarty 10. Mr. Baldwin was declared duly nominated for County Judge. The convention then nominated Hon. H Griffith for the Assembly, by acclamation; also J. O. Maxwell, for Public Administrator.

The convention was addressed by Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Maxwell, and the President, H. Gwinn. The utmost harmony prevailed.

The convention then adjourned.

ASSAULT AND SHOOTING.—On Friday the 15th inst., a dispute occurred between Saml. Bixler and Alfred St. Louis, about one mile below town on the river, in which Bixler drew a pistol, and shot St. Louis, the ball passing through his right hand and then through his hat, grazing his head A warant was issued for the arrest of Bixler, by Justice Pickett, but thus far the officers have been unable to find him. It is supposed he made his escape down the river in a skiff.

LAW QUESTION.—The question as to who will hang the Sacramento murderer, Williams, has often been mooted, but is now judicially settled by the sentence of Judge McKune, assigning that duty to C. H. Gray, the Sheriff of Yolo county.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union of Aug. 20th:

LEAVENWORTH, Aug. 18.—Owing to the presence of a large body of rebels in Jackson county, Mo. and the threatened attack on Kansas City, the Provost Marshal of this city, under orders from the headquarters of the department of Kansas, has ordered citizens en mass to enroll themselves for military duty—those failing to do so to be arrested. Business is generally suspended throughout the city in consequence of the general compliance with the order.

The Federal troops composing the Indian Expedition, with the exception of three Indiana regiments, are supposed to be at Fort Scott, or marching thence to the northward.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—Passengers by the Pacific railroad bring reports that a fight occurred on Friday at Lone Jack, Jackson county, 20 miles south of Lexington, between parts of Col. Phillips and Colonel Crittenden's regiments of State troops, 800 strong, and about 3,000 guerrillas, under Quantrell and other guerrilla chiefs, resulting in the defeat of the State forces, with the loss of 200 killed and wounded and two pieces of artillery. Official accounts are expected to day.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 18.—Eighty guerrillas from Mound City, on their way to join Morgan, were attacked on Saturday, near Mammoth Cave, by 34 Home Gards. One Captain was killed, and all the guerrillas captured.

Gen Nelson is here. Trains are running through on the Chatanooga road.

FT. MONROE, Aug. 18.—The Newbern N. C., Progress states that the final result of the election of North Carolina indicates the defeat of Johnson, Secession candidate for Governor, by a majority of 30,000. The Union opposition have elected nearly every member of both branches of the Legislature by still stronger majorities. Every candidate advocating the continance of the war and the separation of the States has been defeated

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 18.—Rumors, apparently well founded, indicate the occupation of several new points in Kentucky by guerrillas, who exhibit great activity. The names, places and numbers are withheld by order of the military authorities There is considerable excitement in this city from this cause.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 13 —We learn by courier that a force of rebel cavalry, perhaps 3,000 strong, made its appearance on Monday at Richmond, 25 miles from here. It is supposed to be the advance of a larger force located at London and Somerset.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—A dispatch from camp near Cedar Run, dated yesterday, says:

Scouts report that there is no heavy force of rebels within ten miles of that place. It is thought that Jackson has gone elsewhere.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 19.—The news of the invasion of Kentucky which reached here on Saturday, caused no little excitement. The rebels have entered the State at several different points, have captured Somerset and now have it in their possession; they are also moving on Glasgow and threatening Bowling Green. Kirby Smith is at the head of at least five brigades of infantry, four batteries of artillery, and a corresponding force of cavalry is about to march through Big Creek Gap. Another force of equal size is in front. The plan is to cut our line of communication and compel, if possible, the evacuation of Cumberland Gap. Gen. Morgan has retired part of his command to Barboursville, to hold that place, and asks for reinforcements The rebel Morgan is committing depredations. Forrest and Stevens are expected to join him. There is a force of 2,500 rebels in Scott county. A force of 200 cavalry, and supposed to the advance of the Tennessee Guard, is at Monticello. The rebels have taken London, in the rear of Gen. Morgan, and will doubtless attack him in front at the same time.

NEW YORK, Aug 19 —The Tribune has a letter dated the 16th, which says:

"Harrison's Landing was evacuated without the loss of a single gun All agree that the whole affair was admirably executed. On Monday last, McClall's division received orders to strike tents, provide six days' rations, and be ready to move at a moment's notice. At nine the same night the whole division arrived at the wharf, embarked on the steamers and left during the night for Aquia Creek via Fortress Monroe, as is supposed. An order was issued that no vessels with supplies should proceed further than Fortress Monroe, and on Wednesday, ten days rations were served to the army, which last was required to be in readiness to move at an hours' notice. On Thursday the army commenced evacuating. All the siege guns were removed from front and safely embarked on Thursday, and yesterday, on board barges and schooners, Gen Porter's corps led the van of the overland portion of the army On Thursday night and Friday morning, every tent was struck. Then, for the first time, it became generally known that the whole army was evacuating. On Thursday night fifty sail vessels left the different wharves loaded with stores. All who remained before the final departure of the land forces, acted as pickets. A strong rear guard of infantry and artillery was placed to protect the baggage trains. The sick and wounded who remained at the different hospitals, were placed on board the steamers belonging to the Sanitary Commission, and were among the first to move. Contrabands were shipped on schooners and barges, and a portion in boats. McClellan and most of his staff went by land.

The official report shows the total force of the rebels engaged at the battle of Cedar Mountain was 24,900.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Specials to the New York papers says:

Apprehensions are beginning to be expressed that the rebels, finding it impossible to pursue McClellan, for want of transportation, will suddenly concentrate by means of their railroads in Pope's front, at Fordonsville, and make a desperate effort to overwhelm him before support can arrive. No fears are expressed of any great danger from such a plan, but the probability of its being attempted causes expectation of the speedy renewel of active work beyond Culpepper. It is stated that at the rate the new levies are now moving forward, 60,000 additional troops could be given to Pope and McClellan within a week.

LEXINGTON, Mo., Aug. 18.—General Lane has reached here with reinforcements, securing the safety of the place. The gunboat Warner is also here, and can render valuable service.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug 19.—A correspondent on the Inquirer, under date of Fortress Monroe, August 17th says:

The army was crossing the Chickahominy yesterday by means of pontoon bridges 2,000 feet long, formed of upwards of 100 pontoon boats By personal observation this moaning I find that with few exceptions our entire fleet of transports have have arrived here, so that I may say our entire fleet is safe.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 16 —The Grenada Appeal of the 13th states that the Federals took possession of Bayou Sara, seizing all sugar and molasses, and quartering a garrison there. It also states that the rebels have been reinforced from Arkansas. The Appeal editorially says: "The sooner we cease to look for foreign aid or European intervention, the better for all concerned."

UNION CONVENTION.—The Union men met in County convention, on Wednesday at Woodland, and after organizing, with Gen C. I. Hutchison as President, and Amos Mathews as Secretary, nomi L R. Hopkins of Washington, for County Judge; John Patton of Fremont Township, for Assembly; and Capt Emery, of Cache Creek, for Public Administrator.

The principal opponents of Mr. Hopkins, were Squire Hutton of Cachevile, Judge Hoag of Washington, and Judge Deming, present Deputy Treasurer, was also before the Convention.

Mr. Patton for Assembly, was opposed by L. B. Ruggles of Woodland vicinity, and one or two others whose names we did not get.

The convention appeared to have gone off harmoniously, and with the average quantity of popular satisfaction.

BUCKEYE MOWER.

Farmers Buy the Best Machine!!!

THE Buckeye has proved itself to be the best Mower, and

MOWER & REAPER COMBINED,

That has ever yet been brought into use. It has the following advantages over other Machines:

It has two driving wheels which support the whole weight of the frame, gearing, driver an raker.

It has a double hinged finger-bar, belonging exclusively to the Buckeye Mower, which conforms to all varieties of surface, and can be easily raised to pass obstructions.

It has no cog gearing in the driving wheels—it is entirely free from side draft—the draft is lighter than ordinary ploughing.

As a REAPER, it has all the advantages of the Mower. The Reed is attached with a flexible joint, which allows it to follow all the movements of the Platform on uneven ground. The platform is readily adjusted to any required height of cut. The weight of the Raker is directly over the axel of the machine instead of being carried on the Platform, where it adds greatly to the side draft. It has many other Improvements over the old style Mower and Reapers.

WE HAVE ALSO

THE CELEBRATED IMPROVED

Easterly Mower and Reaper; the Kentucky Harvester, a Combined Reaper and Mower.

The

KETCHUM MOWER AND REAPER.

ALSO

Knight's Landing News.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?—The orderly sergeant was calling the roll.

"Jehosaphat Jenkins."

"Here," promptly responded Jehosaphat.

"George Washington Squibbs."

"Here," in a firm voice replied the heroic Squibbs.

"Ebenezer Mead."

No answer.

"Ebenezer Mead, what do you mean by standing there, staring me in the face, and not answering when your name is called?"

"You didn't call my name," gruffly answered the private.

"Isn't your name Ebenezer Mead?"

"Nary time."

"What is it, then?"

"Eben Mead."

"What's the difference?"

"A heap."

"I can't see any."

"Now, sergeant, your name is Peter Wright, isn't it?"

"Yes."

"Well, would you answer to the name of Peternezer Wright?"

"Of course not."

A laugh from the company, and, after roll-call, a mutual smile between Eben and Peter—at the latter's expense—settled the matter in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

A DARK colored man once went to Portland, Me., and attended church. He went into a good pew; when the next neighbor to the man who owned it said:

"What do you put a nigger into your pew for?"

"Nigger! He's no nigger, he's a Haytian."

"Can't help that, he's black as the ace of spades."

"Why, sir, he is a correspondent of mine."

"Can't help that, I tell you he's black."

"But he's worth a million of dollars."

"Is he though? Introduce me."

MANUFACTURER'S AGENTS, AND dealers in Pitt's, Ball's, Russell's, and other popular

Thrashing Machines.

Also, the following

Reapers and Mowers,

Improved for the harvest of 1862:

Burt's Eagle Combined Machine; New York do.; McCormick's do.; Heath's Eagle do; Kentucky Harvesting Machine; Haines' (Illinois) do.; Ball's Ohio Reaper and Mower; Manny's Improved Machine.

Esterly's Improved Machine; Rugg's Combined machine; Vermont mowing machine; Buckeye do.; Bay State do.; Molly Stark (Ohio) Mower:

And sole agents for the celebrated Nourse, Mason & Co's

Ketchum's Improved Mowers,

With or without Reaper attachments—the best mowing machine in use. They will be furnished this season at greatly reduced prices, bringing them within the reach of every farmer. These machines are very much improved, and never fail in the matted or lodged clover- cutting with equal ease the tall or tangled grass without clogging or breaking; and so close that it will save from one to five dollars' worth of hay per acre more than any other machine. They are furnished with Reaper Attachment, at small cost—making them a good and serviceable combined machine; and when all other machines have failed in the tangled grain, the work has been done by the Ketchum machine to the perfect satisfaction of all. The one horse machine cuts four feet; the light two-horse machine cuts four and a half and five feet—two sizes; the heavy two-horse machine cuts five and five and a half feet, two sizes. Any boy capable of driving the team can manage the machine; it is not liable to get out of order.

The New Bay State two-wheeled Mower.—We have purchased the patent right to the New Bay State Mower for the State of California. It is one of the many machines lately invented, and stands far ahead of all others in point of excellence as a two-wheeled mowing machine, having all the new improvements that have been fairly tested. It is very light, strong, durable machine, and cuts full four and a half feet.

The Vermont Mower—Also, a two-wheeled machine. It is made mostly of iron, simple in construction, and can be managed with ease.

The Buckeye Machine has two driving wheels like the Vermont machine, and is simple in its construction.

The Molly Stark Mower, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a very light mower, of the Buckeye pattern.

Ball's Ohio Harvester, (manufactured at Canton, Ohio), is a two-wheeled Reaper and Mower. Has two cutter bars—one for reaping and one for mowing. We have imported a few for trial this season.

The Kentucky Harvester cuts about five and a half feet. Said to be a very good machine.

McCormick's Reaper and Mower—a very good reaper—intended for four large horses.

Burt's Eagle Reaper and Mower,

(Improved for 1862.) Baker & Hamilton, sole agents for this machine in California and Oregon.

We have imported these machines for the past two years, which were furnished to some of our neighboring farmers and thoroughly tested. They gave general satisfaction both in cutting grain and grass. The style is very much the same as the celebrated Esterly's machine, except that they are better made; have a strong iron finger bar; are hand-raking reapers and have no side draft. They have a large four foot driving wheel. The outside grain wheel is thirty inches in diameter, The driver's seat is over two iron truck wheels, each thirty inches in diameter, and the machine may be turned round without crowding the horses, as there is no weight upon their necks. They have two sets of gearing for fast and slow motion; a smooth knife for mowing, and a sickle for reaping; the back of each is made of hammered cast steel. They cut about six and a half feet, and can be worked with two light horses. We have but a few for this season's trade, owing to the fact that the great demand at the factory made it impossible for the manufacturer to fill our orders for a large number in season for shipment to this market.

Rugg's Reaper and Mower cutting six and nine feet. This machine cuts in advance of the horses, and the cutter can be raised by the driver from one to twenty-four inches. Sold very cheap.

Haine's Illinois Harvester, or Header, cuts ten feet. Improved for the harvest of 1862. We have also imported complete sets of trucks, or running gear for header-wagons, with neck yokes and whiffletrees complete.

P. Manny's Improved Combined Reaper and Mower.—This is a new style of machine, very light, yet strongly built, lately patented by P. Manny, in which there are many valuable improvements. We are willing to guarantee this Combined Reaper and Mower in every instance.

We have imported a large stock of extras for repairing Reapers, Mowers and Thrashers, all of which will be sold cheap for cash.

—ALSO—

Haying and Harvesting Tools

Of every description necessary to meet the wants of the farmers. These they have in large quantities, and can supply to traders wholesale and retail, at San Francisco prices.
